"SS Science and Mathematics Exploration II・International Exploration I Field-Specific School Research Presentation" (2022.12.15.Thu)

On December 15th, the Field-Specific School Research Presentation was held. This year, it was jointly organized with the "International Exploration I" project of the 2nd-year International English class. Both the Science and Mathematics students and the International English students engaged in poster presentations, fostering meaningful exchanges and inspiring each other. The event also saw participation from 1st-year high school students and nearby middle school students, who were excited about their future exploration activities.

The presenters made efforts to explain their research in a way that was easy for their juniors to understand, leading them to gain new insights themselves. The entire experience proved to be extremely valuable and rewarding.
