

#12: Cooperation Class with JICA Trainees

On December 14th, the first year students had a class with JICA trainees who came from the Philippines, Myanmar, Laos and Vietnam. They came to Japan to learn ICT.

During the class, the first year students gave presentations with slides that were made by themselves. After that, they listened to the trainee's presentation, and they had a question and answer session. The interaction was in English and it was a good opportunity to listen to the English of people from other Asian countries. Every student learned that there were many kinds of English in the world and different cultures in other Asian countries.

The first grade students worked on making the slides for their presentation. They prepared for it very hard after school. During the exchange program, they seemed to mature because they were trying their best to listen to English which sounded unfamiliar to them. I hope they take advantage of this chance to learn many things in their future.
