

January, 2016

#13: SSH Taiwan Science Trip

Happy New Year. Let's do our best this year. The SSH Taiwan Science Study Trip was after New Year's, from January 4th to January 7th. We visited the Insect Museum, the National Taiwan Science Education Center, National Taiwan University and a tea cultivation and tea museum in New Taipei City. Also, we exchanged poster presentations with local Taiwanese high school students. We completed our posters at the end of the year, translated Japanese into English, and practiced our presentation very hard in English. We worked hard to speak English through the exchange and we could make a good presentation in English. The Taiwanese students have good English abilities. Kyuyo students who participated in this program must have felt the necessity to study harder. They will work hard to study English from now on.

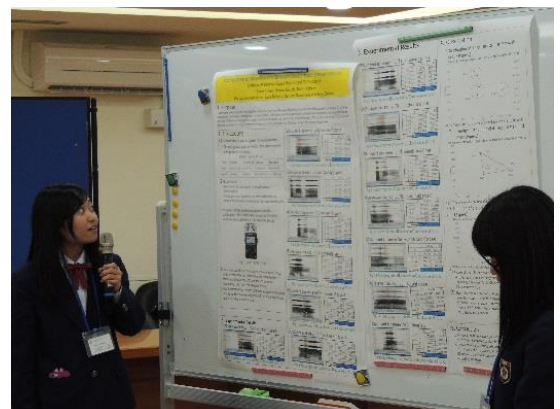

National Taiwan Science Museum

Poster presentation I

National Taiwan University

Poster presentation II

#14: SSH English Lecture

On January 31st, Kyuyo High School invited Mr. Kelvin Tan from Hwa Chong Institution to give a lecture about chemistry. Last year, the second year students listened to his lecture at school.

The 2nd grade students who took part in this lecture said: “I couldn’t understand the lecture last year. But, I could understand it this year. I am glad to realize that my English ability has improved.

Making an effort is very important. The first half of the lecture was about Singapore, which is where he came from. “Singapore is a good place,” and “I want to visit Singapore,” the students commented after his lecture.

